

Men of Influence Breakaway

The mantle of leadership responsibility sometimes leaves little time or opportunity for personal strategy and reflection. Here is an opportunity to focus with other men of influence, for a day, on your own needs and development. This completely unique and personal experience will not only re-energise and refocus you but will unlock possibility and potential you have not previously realised.

The programme includes interactive discussions and exercises based on leadership expertise from John Maxwell, Peter Senge, Malcolm Gladwell, Stephen Covey and others and an individual coaching session.

Outcomes

Key outcomes include

- Personal stress relief and energy replenishment
- Understand how to engage your strengths and work with your brain to maximise results and minimise effort
- Rediscover your sense of purpose and missional engagement
- Explore the unique value you add to your organisation and personal relationships
- Explore ways to restore the equilibrium of work and personal effectiveness

Delivery Method

In-house Workshop Breakaway
Public Workshop Breakaway

Tools Of Greatness
resources for the craftsmanship of living

Facilitators

Hylton Gudmanz

Hylton, your facilitator, is a Competitiveness Consultant who helps people live and work in sync with their fingerprint, focusing on uniting business, brand and community. He is passionate about personal branding, has extensive facilitation experience, draws on a wealth of knowledge and is a masterful story teller.

Janet du Preez

Janet, your coach, is a Gallup-trained Strengths Performance Consultant for individuals and teams, is a masterful facilitator who imparts practical wisdom founded on her solid academic background in health sciences, psychology and business.

in association with

◀ — go back to Index Page